Vehicles in VR Games: The first VR racing game where you can drive around "mini tracks" with jumps and obstacles driving several models of retro's. Besides the desktop mode it is also available in virtual reality at the touch of a button at any time during the game. Enjoy racing through cartoon-style scenarios with legendary vehicles that simulate a toy, which is why on most tracks you will drive around tables, chairs, bathtubs and many other everyday objects. We have also included tracks imitating real life models with very varied environments. Compete with up to 3 online opponents in online multiplayer mode on all available single player tracks as well as specially designed tracks for more fun in multiplayer mode only. Earn money by winning races to unlock tracks and vehicles and then enjoy them with your friends. For a better experience try it in virtual reality and feel the speed more closely in your camera in first person or change the view and observe everything as if it was a model and where it really seems that you are driving the vehicles by remote control. Main features: - More than 15 vehicles available to choose from. - 10 very varied tracks. - Drift mode on all tracks. - Race mode on all tracks. - 5 different cameras on desktop and 2 in virtual reality including first person on both. - Full gameplay available in Virtual Reality at the touch of a button at any time during the game. - Multiplayer crossover mode where people using virtual reality can compete with those playing on the desktop. - Logging of all your game statistics. - More than 30 steam achievements to unlock. - Steam leaderboards on all tracks and game modes. - Future updates with more tracks, vehicles and more. A: I've listed the most prominent VR racing games that are available for the Oculus Rift. Gravity Dash - A free VR arcade racing game where you drive on a track and dodge your opponent through obstacles. Driver - Driver is a VR racing game in which you will be in a super-powered car. You can drift, stomp on and crush your opponents and more! Use the controller for movement and tilting and the touchpad for steering. Hands on the Wheel - Hands-on-the Networking: play games with up to 8,192 local players and as many as 64,000 online players.

If needed, you can expand to 1,152 players in 2×2 or 262,144 players in 3×3 matches.
You can host up to 8,192 tracks, and create up to 24,000 users in your account.

Computer Graphics: support various graphical aspects, such as 8-ball, pool, and nine holes.
Matches can be about sizes of 3×3 up to 9×9 px of the corresponding pool table.
Pixel perfect play is based on your screen's resolution.
You can view pool outline on top of the ball.

Challenging AI: all AI modes can be played by four, eight, or twelve AI players
Simulate an 8×8, 12×12, or 16×16 game
AI players are simulated by an independent scoreboard on your player's screen.
The higher scoring player appears to be the winner.
You can play five one-touch or three-touch games, eight series of one-touch games, or a double elimination tournament, all starting with the same set of red balls.

Statistics: track every game point where you or your opponent scored a game-point towards winning, and track the match point where all you or your opponents have in the same game, depending on the game mode
Save Scores: Save and auto-load players' game screens to a downloadable file, which will be uploaded to the Gaming Center in near real-time.
Statistics: score the games you complete, the games you lost, the games you won, and the games where you/your team have won the most, and where

Join us on Facebook: Show moreShow less You need to install these two files to play Mini Tracks gameQ: JOptionPane with JFrame or JDialog? I am creating a multiline JOptionPane but it appears that when I include JOptionPane.showInputDialog or JOptionPane.showInputDialog(...), it opens a new window. I want to have the option of having it open in a JFrame or JDialog. Is this possible? My code so far is as follows: JFrame optionsFrame; optionsFrame = new JFrame("Options"); JButton exitButton = new JButton("Exit"); optionsFrame.add(exitButton); JOptionPane.showMessageDialog(optionsFrame,"Please select an option: "); String line = ""; while( (line = (JOptionPane.showInputDialog("Enter a line:")))!= null) { System.out.println("You entered: " + line); } A: No need to try and create a dialog/frame/panel yourself. Since you are using Java 8, you can use java.util.Optional. Try this: java.util.Optional result = JOptionPane.showInputDialog("Please select an option: "); if (result.isPresent()) { String input = result.get(); System.out.println("You entered: " + input); } else { System.out.println("Option not selected"); } Since java.util.Optional cannot be null
