expression, if the expression has type “array of type”, the value of the expression is the total number of bytes in the array. [...] So, the type of c is char [4], and the value of the expression is therefore the total number of bytes, which is 1.

A: Note that sizeof is calculated on an expression, here the type is char [4], sizeof() gives the total number of bytes in the array. You are confusing sizeof(char) which is 1 with sizeof(char [4]). A: sizeof is not evaluated in a compile-time manner, and it is not a function. You can use compile-time evaluators in the form of macros for this task.

I want to save them when the app is uninstalled. I don't know the method I have to use. I've already used some and I got that one didn't work so I want to know which is the correct way to save them in a database A: Probably the best way to do this is to use PackageManager to query for the Notification entries you have stored. If you add the notification to a database
